

1803

Jefferson bought the territory of Louisiana from the French (Napoleon) for $15,000,000. This made the U.S. twice as big as before 1803

After the French & Indian war was over, thousands of settlers came into Kentucky. Boone found out he did not own any land. He had failed to fill out the right papers.

So he packed up his family and moved to Missouri. The land belonged to Spain. The Spanish gov't gave him some land. In 1803, the U.S. bought the Louisiana Purchase. Once more Boone lost his land. Now he was forced to migrate. He spent his last years with his son in Missouri.

After he died, his grave was moved to Fairmount Kentucky

Fall of 1803

Pres. Jefferson chose his friend Meriwether Lewis who chose William Clark to help him.

William Clark was the younger brother of Colonel George Rogers Clark. Both were Virginians. By both both had become officers in the Army & had fought in the Indian Wars.

In fall of 1803, the Captains went to St Louis set up camp on the Illinois shore of the Mississippi R. Here they trained their men & made final preparation. They chose 43 men very carefully.
